CookChildren's

Please call 911 for an ambulance or go to the nearest emergency department if your child:

- is unresponsive or unconscious
- was involved in a car accident
- has visible bones or bleeding that will not stop

For emergencies, know where to go

Urgent care cannot provide ultrasound, blood work, CT scans or MRIs. Our provider can give guidance if one of these services is necessary for your child. You can always call your primary care provider to ask if they can see your child in the office.

First, call your primary care office to check availability	Virtual care	Urgent care	Emergency department
